What is Rudraksha?

Rudraksha is a sacred seed traditionally associated with Lord Shiva, revered for its powerful spiritual and healing properties. The word Rudraksha is derived from two Sanskrit terms — “Rudra” (a name of Shiva) and “Aksha” (tears), meaning “Tears of Lord Shiva.”

These beads are naturally formed seeds of the Elaeocarpus ganitrus tree and are widely used in meditation, prayer, and energy healing practices. Each Rudraksha bead has natural lines or faces called Mukhis, which determine its unique energy and benefits.

Authentic Rudraksha Beads (1 Mukhi to 21 Mukhi)

Rudraksha beads carry distinct vibrations based on their number of natural faces (Mukhis). At Rudrakart, we provide a complete range of 1 Mukhi to 21 Mukhi Rudraksha beads, each carefully sourced and verified for authenticity.

Who Can Wear Rudraksha?

One of the biggest misconceptions is that Rudraksha is only for saints or spiritual gurus — that's not true.

Anyone can wear Rudraksha, including:

- Men and women of all ages
- Students, professionals, and business owners
- Spiritual seekers and meditators
- People facing stress, health, or life challenges

There are no strict restrictions — the key is to wear it with respect and positive intention.

How to Wear Rudraksha Properly

Wearing Rudraksha correctly helps you receive its full spiritual and energetic benefits. These sacred beads, associated with Lord Shiva, should be worn with respect and the right intention.

Best Practices:

- Wear Rudraksha on a Monday or during an auspicious time

- Clean the bead with water or raw milk before wearing
- Chant “Om Namah Shivaya” while wearing for better energy alignment
- Wear it as a mala (necklace), bracelet, or pendant
- Ensure the bead touches your skin for better energy flow

⚠ Things to Avoid:

- Avoid wearing during alcohol consumption or non-vegetarian meals (optional based on belief)
- Do not share your Rudraksha with others
- Remove before using harsh chemicals (perfume, soap, etc.)
